

Warriors

1982-83

I am Pine Hill
I am the big field farmer,
So we are called by other tribes.

Through the day
I am education
I am education,
Smells of chalk,
Chatter
Itching to discover.
I belong here.
Rubber soles, bouncing balls,
An old sweat shirt perspiring
To reach the top and Pivot, dribble, shoot.
I belong here.

I am friends with the hills
And the woods.
We share the Perfume of pine.
I hum with the wind.
We gather birds in flocks
On the mountain tops,
The smell of sage,
The taste of earthy pollen,
Gentleness to the eye.
I belong here.

I run the canyon,
Carve pictures in the rock
With a sharp piece of obsidian.
There is a time for work.
Every Navajo girl helps.
This hogan has to be swept,
Wood chopped,
Fire built,
Sheep herded,
Horses watered,
And a basket to be woven;
The sacred-way-of-life pattern.

At the banks with the horses
The sun sinks Becomes serene.
The wind murmurs.
Evening is lonely.

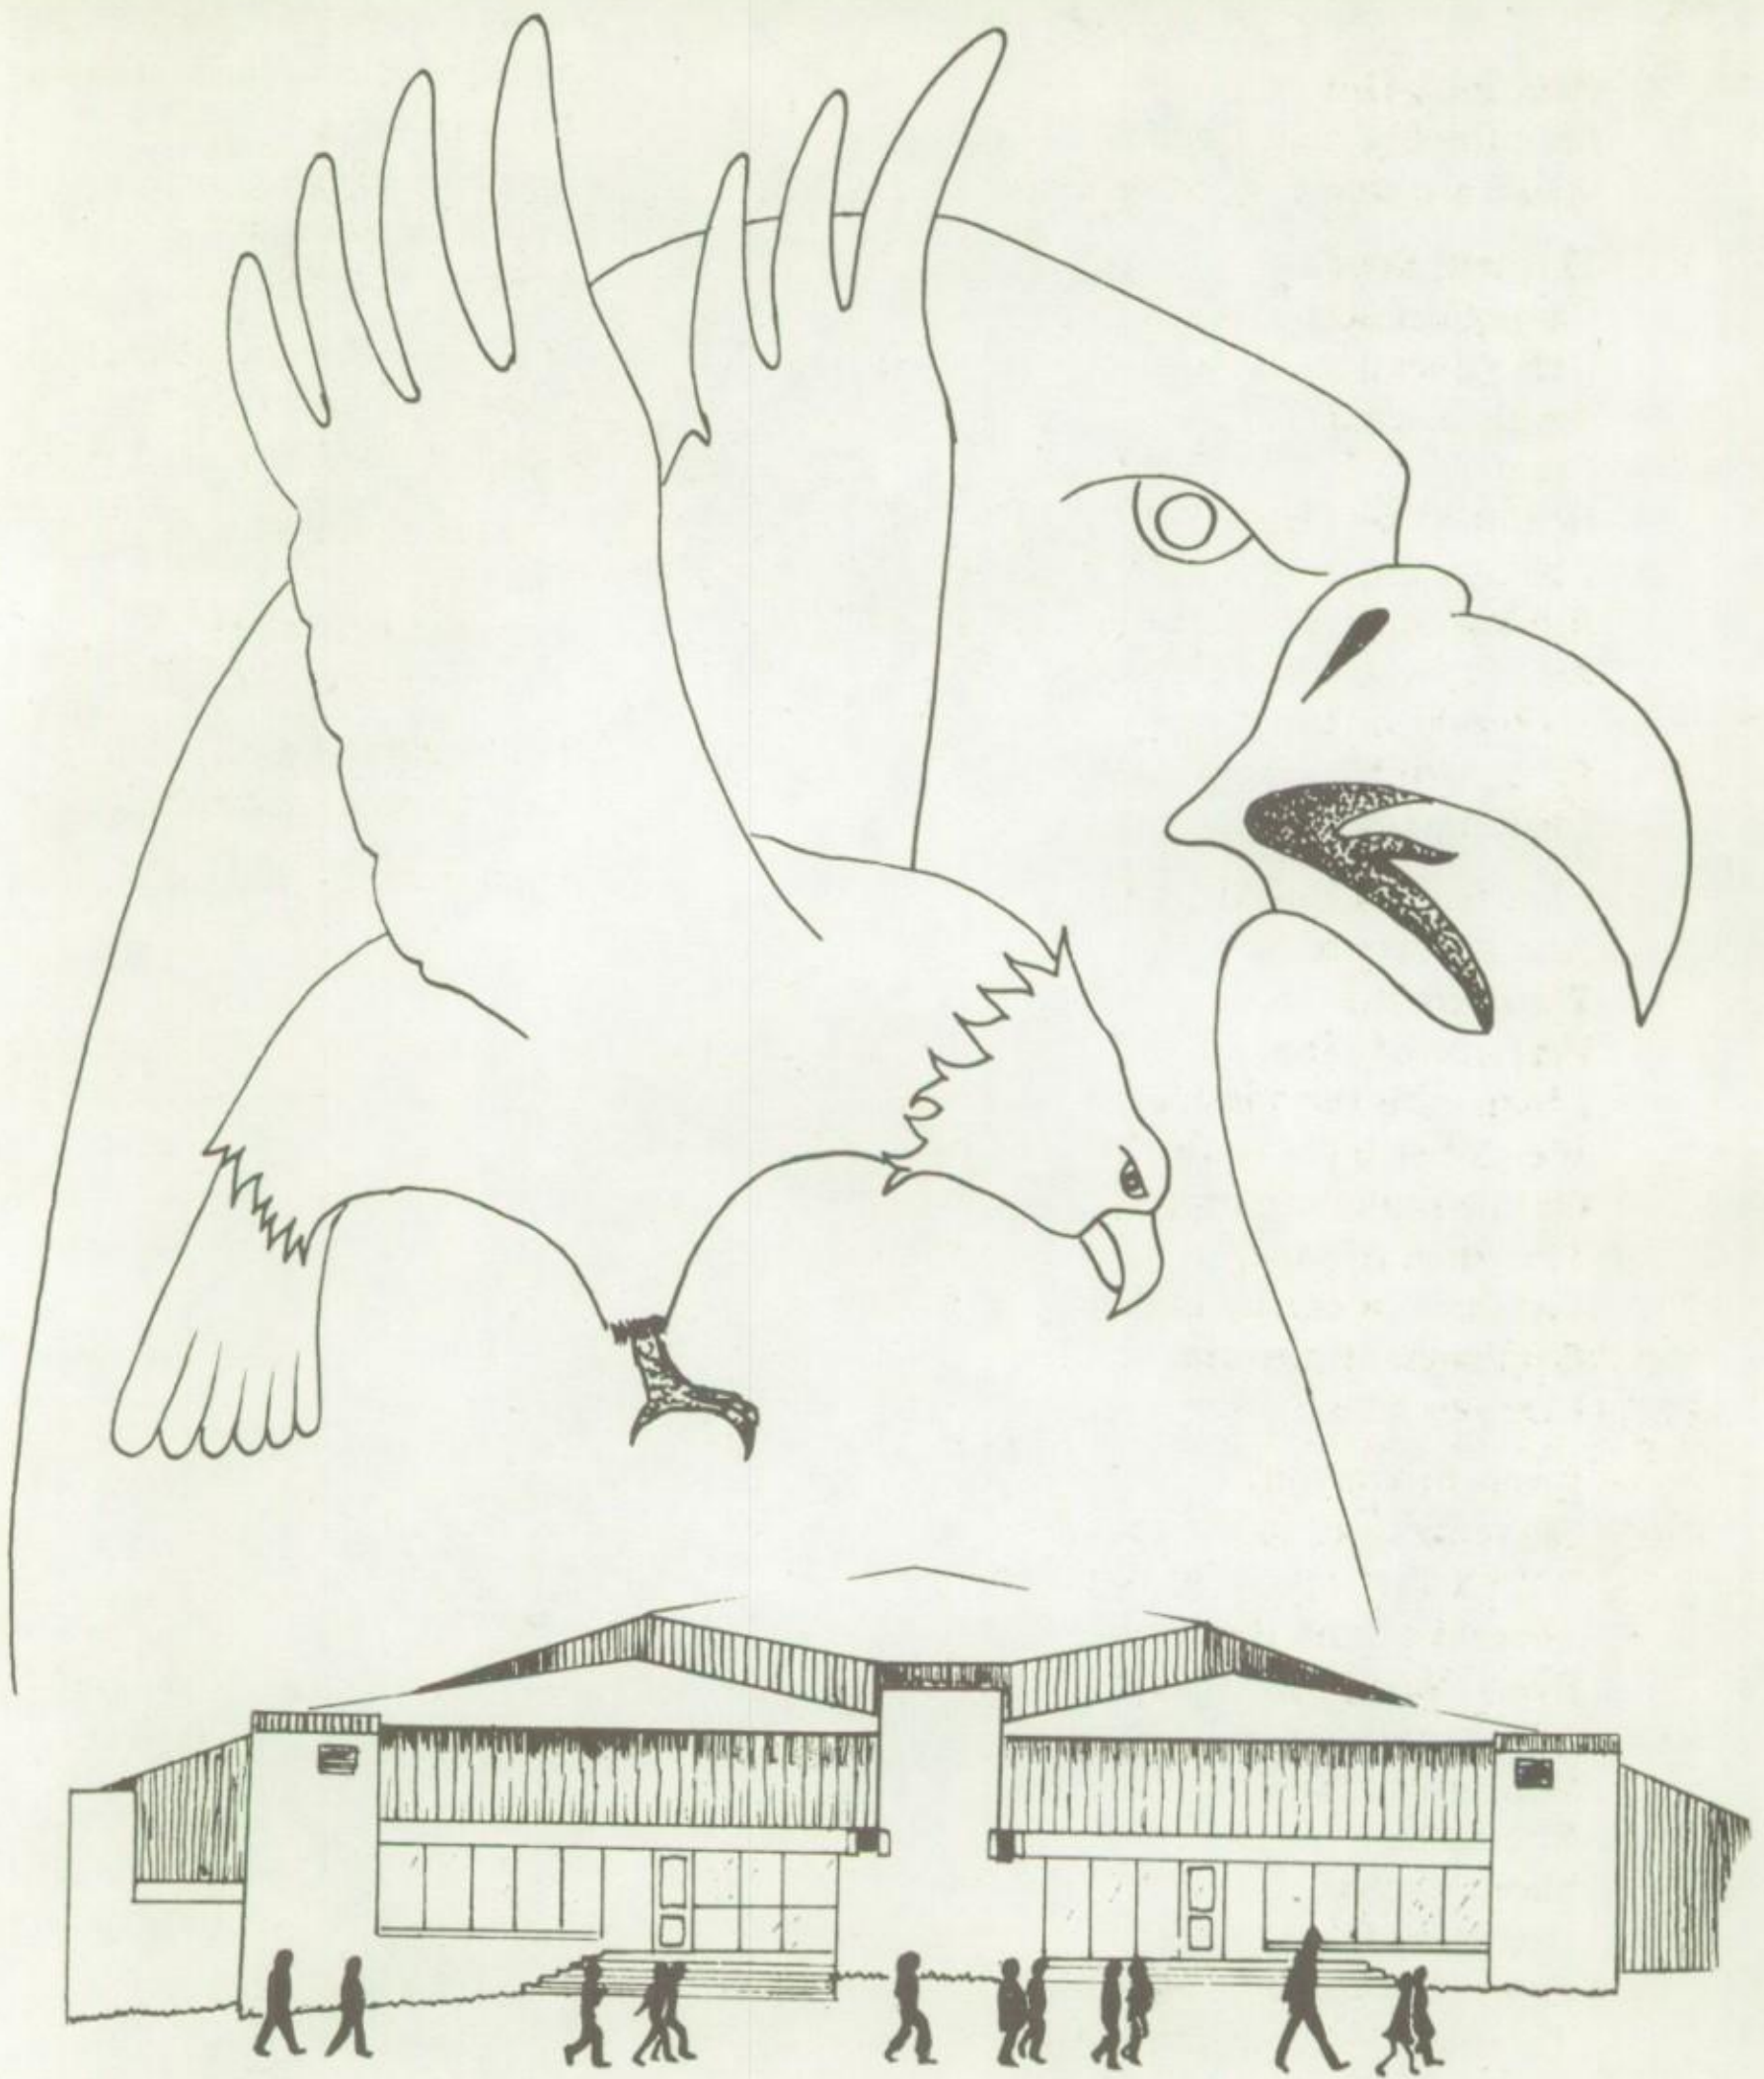

What will become of me?
Someday I will BE;
Looking back saying, I AM.

I rise in defiance, Fiercely.
I am the fifty stars
And stripes of America.

Do I belong here?
Don't you dare doubt it.

I am here.

High Lights of 1982~83

The 1982-83 School Year officially began at the end of May 1982 when the Class of '82 graduated and turned over the distinction of being "The SENIORS" to the Class of 1983.

Graduation speakers for the Class of 1982 were Vickey Beaver, Valedictorian; Cecelia Jake, Salutatorian; and Frank E. Paul, then Vice-Chairman of the Navajo Tribe, who gave the keynote address.

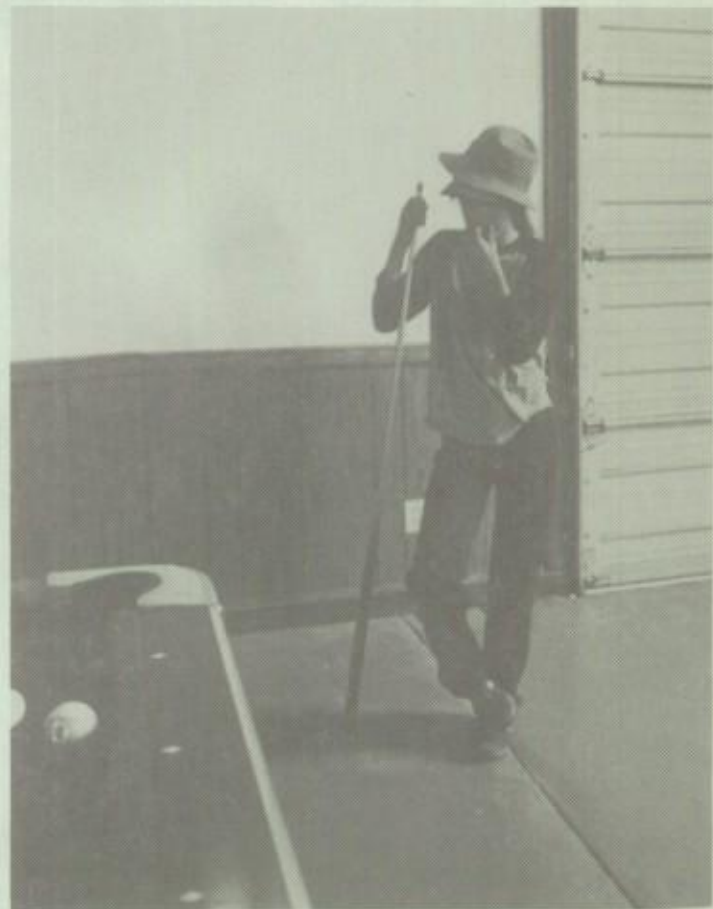

For the summer months, many students stayed in the Ramah area. But a few adventurous souls ventured out into the wilds, north of Santa Fe, as part of Pine Hill's Summer School Outdoor Education Experience. For 3 weeks, 15 students - from 3rd to 8th Grade - and 5 staff carried everything they needed in backpacks and explored the high country of the Pecos wilderness.

The students learned about plants and animals, the stars, backpacking in the wilderness. By the end of the trip, all had developed a true appreciation for the simple joys of a long, hot shower; a meal without "green rubber bands" or freeze-dried chili beans; and a real bed.

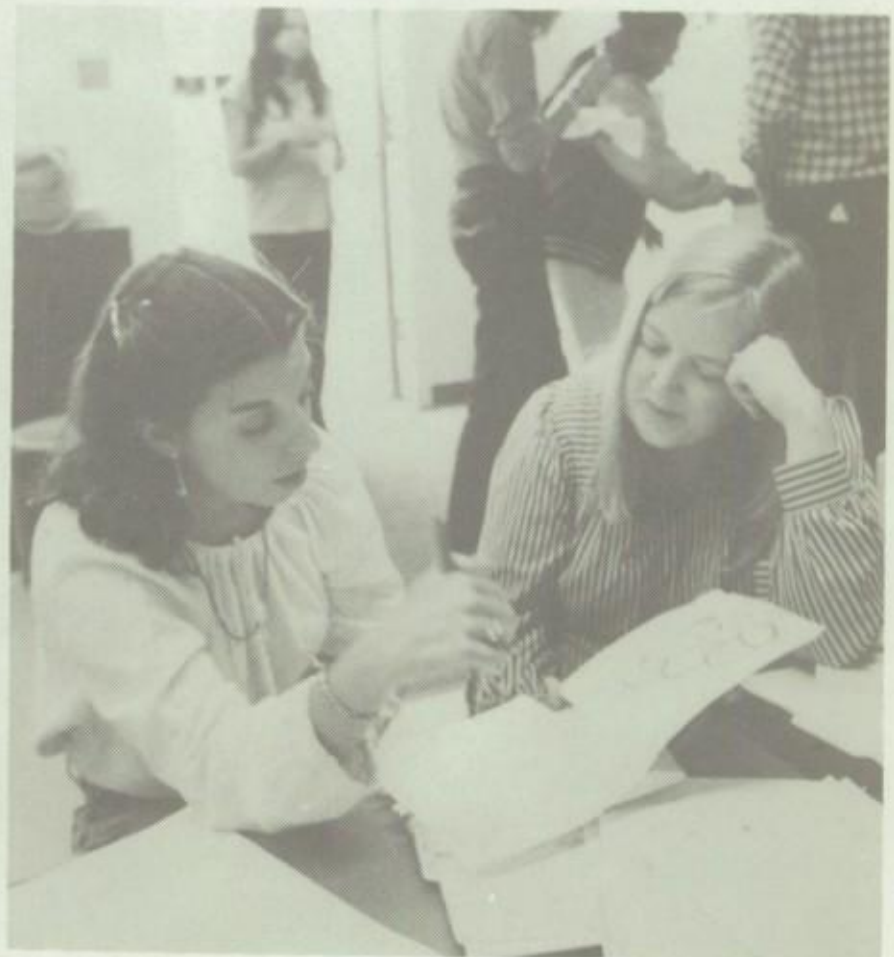

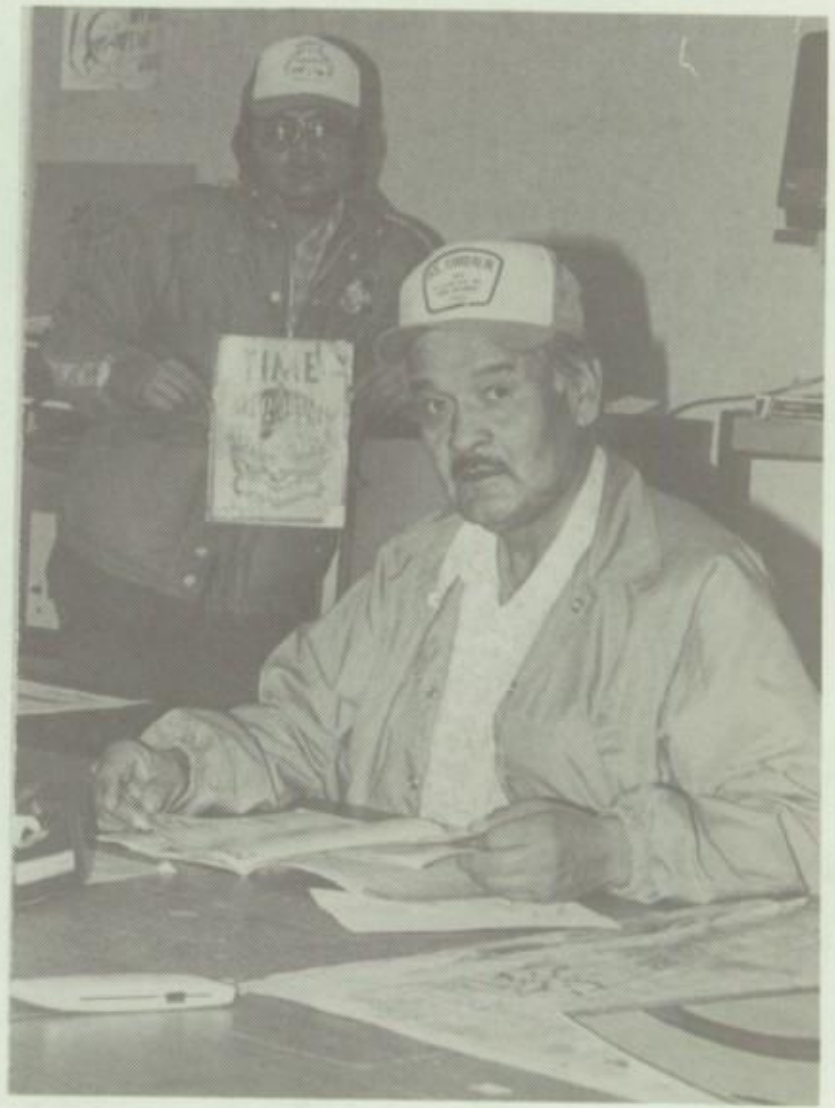

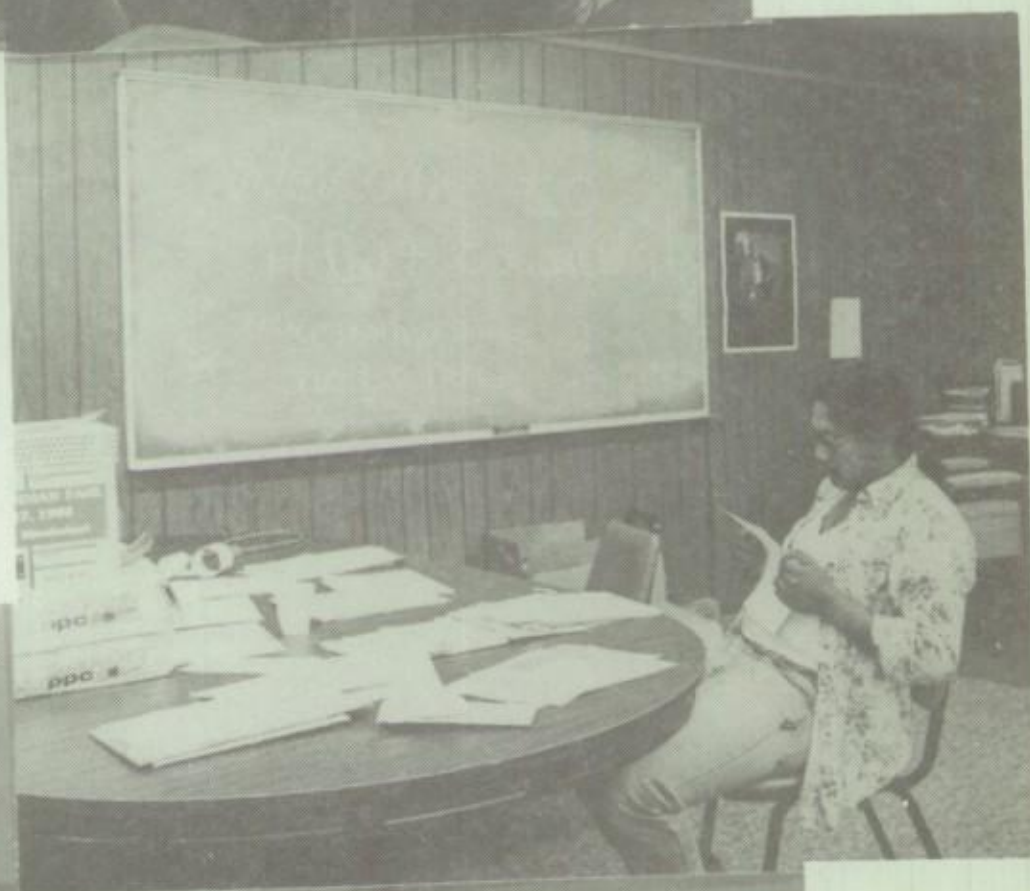

The beginning of school in August broke the quietness of the Pine Hill campus, with Pre K - 12 classes in full swing and staff inservices and parent conferences a part of the daily routine.

The pace of political activity quickened in November when politicians - from tribal to state - challenged each other. Tribal and state elections brought changes: while Jerry Pino, Sr. remained Ramah Councilman, Peterson Zah captured the Chairmanship of the Navajo Tribe and Toney Anaya, the governorship of New Mexico.

From Thanksgiving to Christmas, the spirit of the holidays added a sparkle to the winter air. The flurry of festivities included Christmas caroling around the Pine Hill campus and community; a Christmas carnival sponsored by the Seniors; sales of arts and crafts; and plenty of good food.

The winter was long and cold. Blizzardy snowstorms, carried by the jet stream though New Mexico, dumped over 100" of snow in the Ramah area. The wintry weather lasted well into April.

With the spring snow-melt, muddy roads became disasters, making it impossible for many people to travel from their homes "except with a Sherman tank." Local Chapter officials, police, and community volunteers were kept busy - distributing emergency food supplies, water, and wood to needy local residents.

Homecoming Court: Jennifer King, Walter Watch, Lita Yazzie, Everett Jake, Tina Pino, Jimmy Bahe, Priscilla Henio, Douglas Henio.

Homecoming Court: Queen Ruby Frank, King James Eriacho, Corrina Nez, Vernard Martinez, Annette Alonzo, Sonny Pino, Judy Spencer, Erwin Smith.

¹ Although the Pine Hill girls lost to Ramah, 36-49, the Varsity boys handed their archrival a 66-52 defeat.

Warm weather brought sighs of relief and renewed energy. Among the spring "doings" was the First Annual Ramah Navajo Rug Auction, held at the Ramah Chapter House.

During a community workday, parents and other community volunteers put their energies into making a playground for Early Childhood students a reality.

A Big Grey Wolf
by Harry Yazzie, Jr.

Sitting in the moonlight
Howling and howling all night.
The moon is bright, shining with many colors on the snow.
The trees glow.
The whispering wind is very cold.

As the end of the school year approached, the Juniors and Seniors worked hard to put together a Jr.-Sr. Prom. Vernard Martinez and Priscilla "Joey" Henio were chosen Prom King and Queen.

Teachers honored distinguished students for their achievements during the year at the Annual Awards Assembly in May.

COYOTE

Lying under a juniper tree on a hot afternoon .
trailing rabbit tracks
that were once made by cottontails, he 'drinks out of the water dam on the land of the Navajos.

When night comes, friends howl in the long distance of the dark night.

Navajo Horned Toad

He found shade
In the shadow of Grandpa's
My grandfather ^{tree}.
Would be outraged,
But his dim eyes were not sharp

And the horned toad blended well
With the sand pebbles.

In religion the horned toad is A mythical grandfather.

His small black eyes blinked.
The tree is honored
For two grandfathers to doze in its shade.

The flurry of year-end activities and graduations began with the Early Childhood Graduation program. Under the watchful and proud eyes of their parents, children from Day Care, Headstart, and Kindergarten received their awards and diplomas - ready to take the next big step in their school careers.

Sixth Grade Graduation was a very special reunion for the graduating sixth graders and their Kindergarten teacher, Becky Viers. As Becky remembered each of her students from the "Good ole days", everyone marveled and laughed at how much they had changed and grown in six years' time. Another special guest, Sarah Adeky, gave the students words of encouragement and advice as they bid aloha to middle school life.

The grand finale of the Pine Hill graduations was for the Class of 1983.

Phoebe Martine, Bertha Elliot, and Lola Henio spoke to their fellow classmates. Maxine Coho, a Pine Hill alumnus, gave the keynote address.

As camera flashes popped, twenty-two Seniors received their diplomas during the ceremony, while families, teachers and staff looked on.

The Way to End a Day

The way to end a day is this—

Say a silent thanksgiving, kneel towards the west as the last sun rays sink, know the day has lived for only once.

The special magic of dusk will guide your silent thoughts.

For it was then your forefathers and your foremothers grew wise contemplating the day's events.

A setting sun needs to pass away honorably, before the campfires are lit, before the handsome ones play their love songs on the flutes.

Isn't that when the elders sat and the little children formed a circle to listen?

Today many will kneel to honor the day—

GIRLS VOLLEYBALL

The 1982 Warriors Volleyball team had several "NEW FACES" on the squad during a "REBUILDING YEAR." Although the team finished with a .500% won-loss, it is hoped they will do much better next year. This hope is based on a strong JV team which finished with a fine 8-2 season record.

JUNIOR HIGH BASKETBALL TEAM - BOYS

JR. HIGH BOYS BASKETBALL

With 5 wins and 4 losses the 1982-83 Boys Jr. High Basketball team had a good year to look back on. The young Warriors played with a lot of energy and with high expectations to become future great Warrior players. The most consistent player on the team was Dennison Begay. The young Warriors ended their season on a high note with a third place finish at the Reserve Tournament.

Coach: Brenda MacPhail, Michele Thompson, Julianna Cojo, Semantha Thompson, Karen James, Lisa Coho, Patricia Garcia, Cassandra Pino, Juanita Martine, Pablita Cohoe, Anita Yazzie, Delphine Roe.

GIRLS JUNIOR HIGH BASKETBALL

The Junior High girls finished their season up with a very fine 1st place finish in the "RESERVE TOURNEY" and an overall record of 6 wins - 4 losses. Next year's Junior High team should be a strong one with 3 returning starters.

GIRLS VARSITY BASKETBALL

This year's version of the Warriorette finished with a disappointing overall record of 9 wins and 11 losses. After reeling off 8 straight victories, the team lost a hard fought match with the Ramah Mustangs in the second game of the District Tourney. This year's team will only return 2 starters next year, with the hope that a good JV group will make a stronger Varsity next year.

GIRLS JUNIOR VARSITY BASKETBALL

The '82 Junior Warriorettes had a very good season with many of them playing in several Varsity contests. Many of these players will be the "NEW FACES" on the Varsity next season. The JV's finished with a strong performance.

Varsity - Boys

This year there was much interest in the Warrior Basketball season. Our season record ended at 10 WINS and 12 losses. Throughout the season "TEAMWORK" and "TEAMPLAY" were often expressed. Unfortunately, we were hit by unexpected injuries and we experienced "1982-83" as rebuilding within a rebuilding year. We have a fine group of boys returning for next year. Thank you for all the support at our games.

Coach: Sam Alonzo

Junior Varsity - Boys

The Junior Varsity boys team went through the 1982-83 season, some who had to mature quite rapidly. J.V. players were often called upon to help out in Varsity games. Although the season record isn't impressive, we feel that there are a lot of potential good future players.

CROSS COUNTRY MEET

Through sweat and grime
we spent our time in the hills and valleys with the sun

a-blazing.

We ran like crazy the heat waves

hazy

with our lungs searing bright onward to that finish line.

*We'd like to thank our racy coach Bob T.
for making all this possible.*

LIFE OF A BASKETBALL

BY Carma Lida Wilson
6th Grade

I love being a basketball when I get dizzy. But I don’t like it when I get kicked and thrown at a wall. I hate it when they do that. I like it when I’m in somebody’s bag and go into the game free and never have to pay.

I don’t like it when I smell shoes; it makes me sick. When I get out of the bag I feel dizzy and my head hurts so bad that I don’t feel like being bounced around and being in the game. I feel sick, but I always have to be bounced. I hate it! I feel like going out and getting some fresh air and getting well again.

After one game I went home. I was put under the bed and I smelled socks. I rolled out when all the family was asleep. I went under the table and went to sleep. In the morning I was bounced and dribbled. I did not like it this time. Under me was a nail. I really wanted to bounce on it and I did. I was so happy not being a basketball anymore.

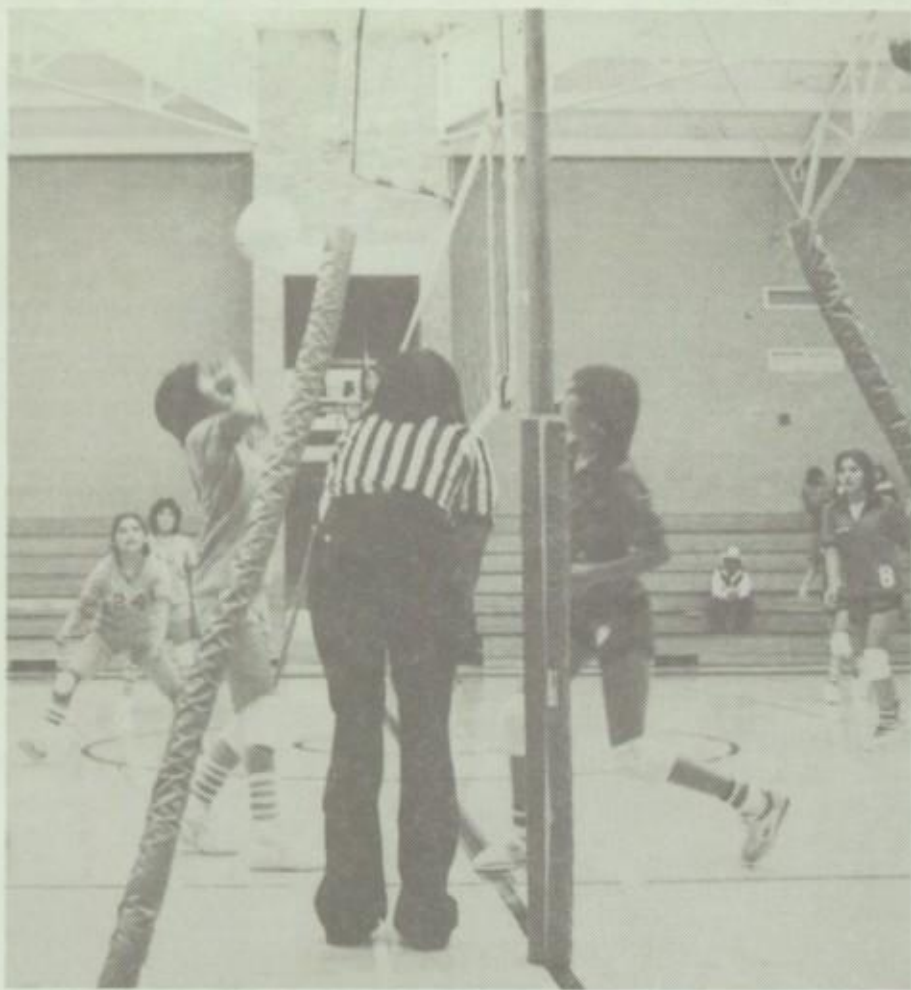

“Here, you guys blow the whistle.”

Alright, who’s got the whistle?

“We decide on who wins the game.”

“Close call!!”

“Let’s see what is in the centerfold.”

“Darn it, broke my nails.”

“C’mon...you really didn’t swallow that ball, did you?”

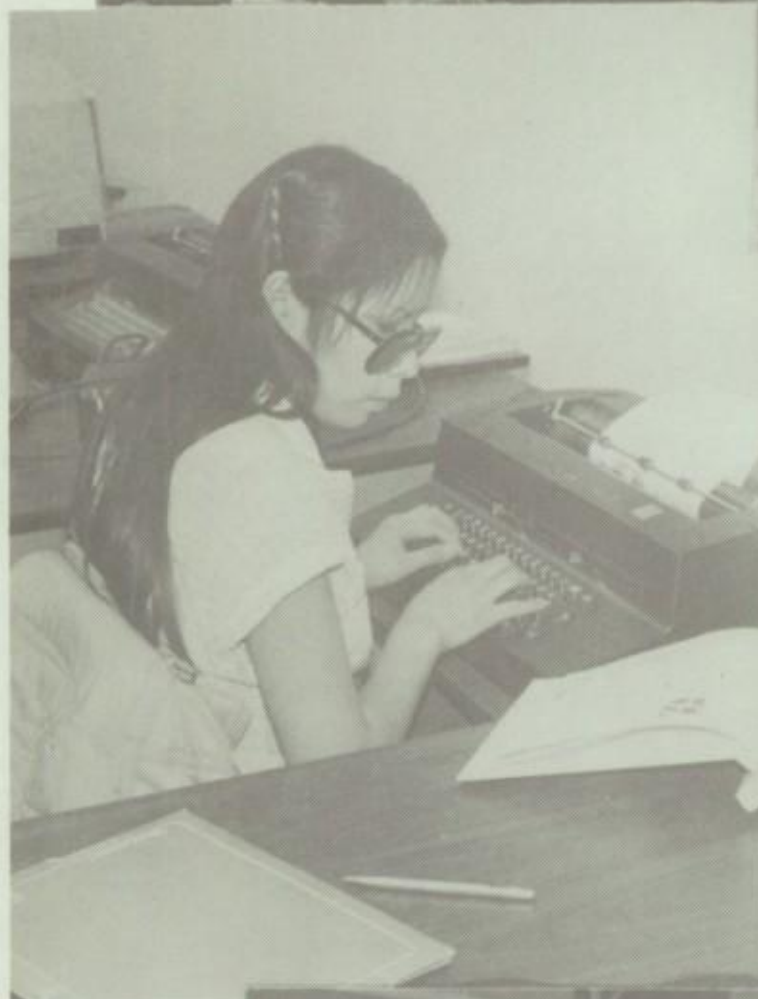

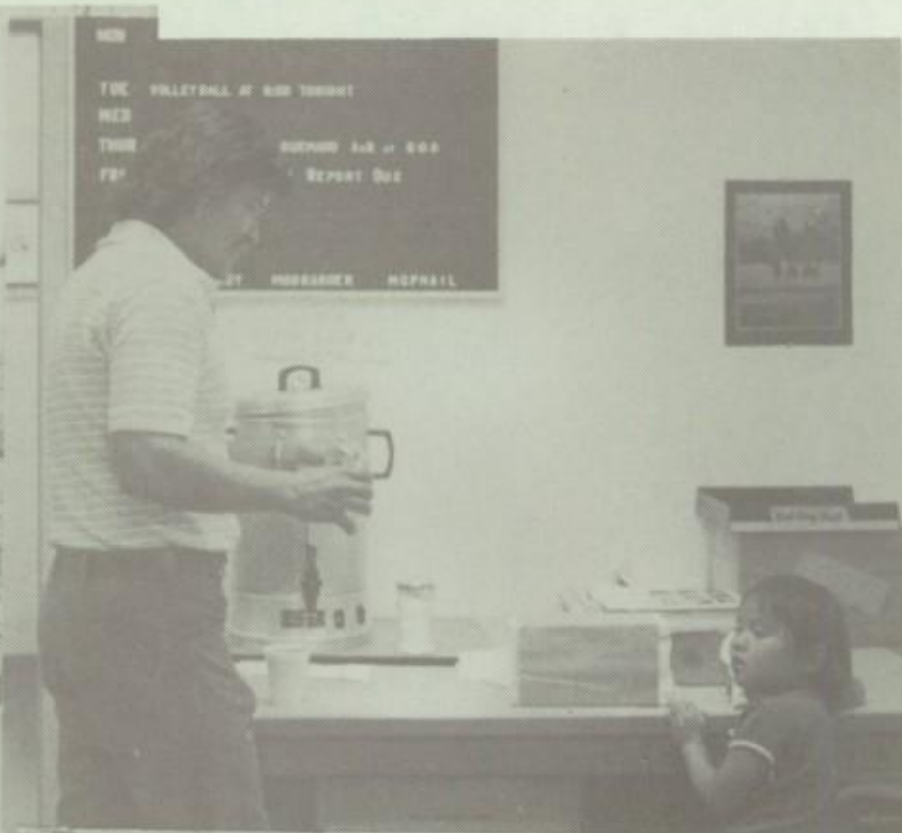

Who put glue on my shoes!

VETERANS DAY

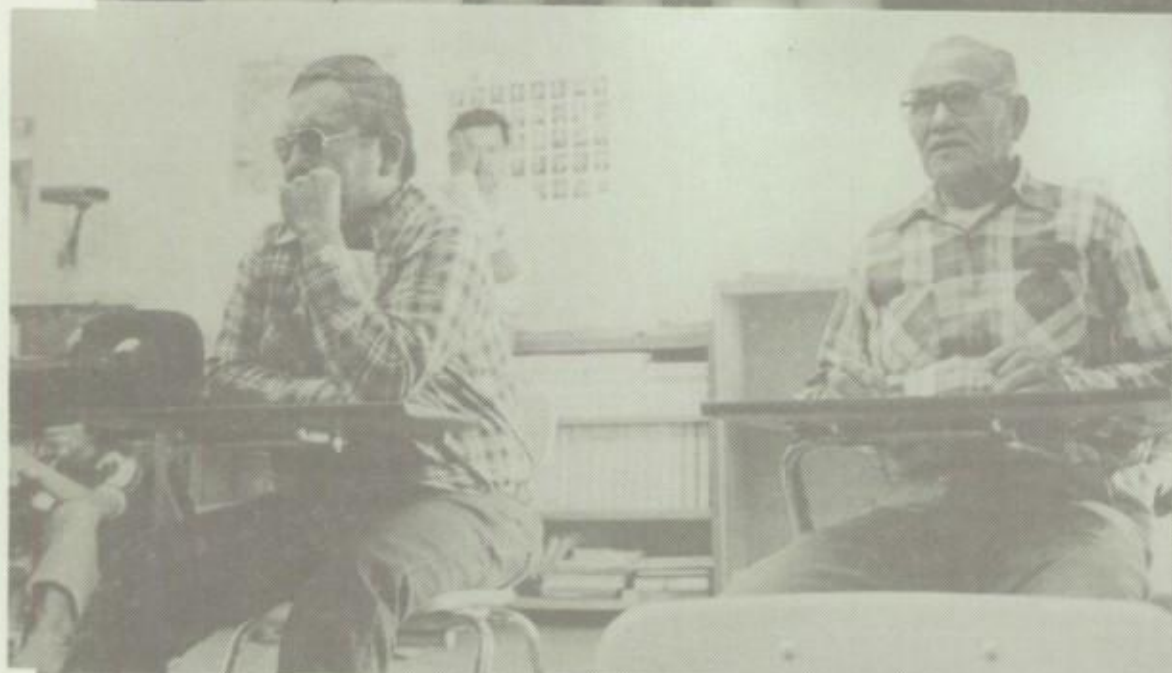

ONE FINAL WORD....

Putting out this yearbook has been a very special project. We wanted to make it perfect—to match what we had in our minds. It has taken lots of time, energy, and commitment, but we hope that the effort has been worth it.

To those who

- munched on $375 worth of candy apples and popcorn
- helped us with our messy cooking projects—
 - Joyce Stevens
 - Linda Defazio
 - Gil Sage
 - Library staff who tolerantly sniffed through 50 lbs of popcorn in the making
- cooperated—either willingly or unwillingly— with millions of class releases
- took chances in 2 turkey raffles
- supported us by becoming sponsors—
 - Administration
 - Adult Education
 - Gary Coan
 - Bernice Cojo
 - Mary T. Cohoe
 - Barbara Maria
 - Cindy Martine
 - Dennis Martine
 - Rodger Martinez
 - Mae Walley
- submitted to the constant scrutiny of photographer and camera
- supplied outstanding artwork—
 - Dodge Chatto - Cover; Division Pages
 - Albert Chee - Division Pages
 - Tim Maria - Division Pages
 - Ben Martinez - Title Page
- patiently bugged the Media Staff and especially the yearbook advisor with “Is the yearbook done??!!”

we would like to say an appreciative “THANK YOU...AHEHEE’!”
for helping to make this yearbook real.
